

Corporate giving creates healthier communities

Investing in PeaceHealth

Building a healthier tomorrow, together

The heartbeat of our work pulses through philanthropic support. It's the cornerstone of PeaceHealth's every step to care for our communities — and that means caring for you, your friends and loved ones, your employees and your valued customers.

As a not-for-profit, we depend on charitable giving more than ever before, especially considering the vastly changing landscape of healthcare today. This means philanthropy at PeaceHealth is absolutely necessary to not only advancing medicine that uplifts our lives, but to ensuring the exceptional care we can always count on.

Our healing mission dates back more than 130 years, thanks to the dedicated, courageous Sisters of St. Joseph of Peace who founded our first hospital. Their belief in caring for all in all times has long endured here, inspiring us on the journey to creating greater wellness in our region now and for years to come.

From Ketchikan, Alaska to Cottage Grove, Oregon, our collective efforts enable a culture of gratitude that changes and saves lives every day. We invite you to join us with your corporate presence. We invite you to bring greater hope and healing across our region.

Making communities and lives better

Your partnership with PeaceHealth strengthens the very place that you call home. This is why we make it easy to direct your corporate gifts to areas aligned with your company's strategies, mission or industry. Corporate gifts help to:

Putting purpose in your workplace

Workplace Giving

Workplace fundraisers are a great way to engage employees, promote team building and empower employees to experience the joy of giving back. Popular company fundraisers include hosting a walk or run, organizing a toy drive for pediatric patients or selling handmade items to benefit a specific PeaceHealth program. Allowing employees to spread their gifts over the year via payroll deduction or matching employee gifts, both further incentivize employees to give back and reinforce your company's commitment to community health.

Volunteer Projects

Group volunteer opportunities at PeaceHealth are available for your employees year-round. Their gifts of time complement your company's donations, engage your employees with one another and the community, and show your customers how deeply your employees care for others.

Leadership Opportunities

Another wonderful option for employees to volunteer their time and talent is by joining a fundraising committee, special event planning committee or advisory council. PeaceHealth relies on the expertise of a diverse array of professionals to support our healing mission.
